

GLAPCE Conference

Registration is open for the 2010 GLAPCE (Great Lakes Association of Church Educators) Fall Conference at Weber Center in Adrian, MI. We hope to see many of you at this year's event.

Weber Center in Adrian, MI, is located on 100 acres of wooded land. It has an outdoor labyrinth and a circle meditation garden. There is also a shop which features books, cards, and gifts. The website is <http://weber.adriandominicans.org> The Fall Conference will begin with registration at 3 p.m. on Tuesday, October 26, and will conclude before lunch on Thursday, October 28. Your registration fee includes your room, meals, and any workshop materials. Dress is casual.

Our keynote presenter is Joyce MacKichan Walker who will lead four workshops on Jesus' great commission to "Go...make disciples...baptize...teach." In preparation for the conference, Joyce would like for you to consider this question: Beyond social media like Facebook and Twitter, what does technology have to offer to the church for enhancement of adult education? What are you seeing and hearing about that is working?

She also suggests that you look at www.lifelongfaith.com where you can read sample articles of the journal Lifelong Faith: The Theory and Practice of Lifelong Faith Formation. If you have access to them, look at some of the back issues.

To register, go to http://apcenet.org/documents/regions/glapce/GLAPCE\_Breeze\_Spring\_Summer\_2010.pdf
The registration form is in the Breeze newsletter.

If you have any questions, please email mmcdonald@irvpresby.org or call me at 317-356-7225 or 317-357-5123 (or Eileen Best at the presbytery office).

Looking forward to seeing you on Tuesday, October 26!
